Milk to Cost More.

Consumers of milk may expect an advance of at least one cent a quart by the first of the month, as the Crescent Milk Producers' association, the largest source of Bridgeport's milk supply, have raised the wholesale price of milk one cent a quart, the new price to prevail for the following seven months. The reason for this increase is given as being due to the high prices of hay and grain, although the winter price of milk is always about one cent a quart higher than the summer price.

This action was taken at a well-attended meeting of the association held at Baptist hall, Easton, Saturday afternoon, when after a very brief discussion the new price was unanimously adopted.—Bridgeport Telegram.

SITE PLEASING.

Promoters of Big Velvet Mill Like Location on Brooklyn Side.

The men interested in the erection of a modern mill in this city for the manufacture of a special quality of velvet, Messrs. Hirsch and Roscoe, with the committee on trade from the Willimantic Board of Trade, held another meeting Thursday morning and discussed the proposition. The out of town men say that they like the appearance of Willimantic better than any city they have seen for their business and they are well pleased with the site over the river on what is known as the Brooklyn side, the site owned by Samuel Chesbro and Jay M. Shepard. In fact, they liked the site so well that they wanted an option upon it and the committee granted it to them for a period of thirty days.

The gentlemen are desirous of communicating with the home of the industry in this country, Germany, from which land the Roscoe people came quite a number of years ago and established mills in several cities in this country, including College Point, N. Y., Buffalo and at Mystic.

The idea of the location of a velvet mill here is a good one and is meeting with the approval of the people, who have long been awaiting an opportunity to feel that something would come along in which they themselves might have some other interest than mere work.

GASOLINE IN BLAZE.

But Did Not Explode, Though Building Was Burned.

James Merchant, a lineman in the employ of the Southern New England Telephone company, pulled in the alarm from box 24 at the foot of High Street, for the fire in the red wooden building in the rear of 944 Main street, owned by M. L. Tryon, and occupied principally by J. E. Robertson's tire shop, although Mr. Tryon had a quantity of paint and lumber stored in the loft and in the shed adjoining.

The building was very dry and only a small fire was caused by a vulcanizer that Mr. Robertson had left heating while he stepped out of the shop for a moment. It was but a short time before the structure was a mass of flames, as the woodwork was pretty well soaked with gasoline and oil, and the flames therefore spread rapidly. Mr. Robertson saved but very little of his stock, tools, account books and the tires, principally automobile tires, between 25 and 30 in number, was partially destroyed, the tires were valued from $25 up to $100 apiece.

There is practically nothing left of the building but the charred walls and Mr. Robertson considered a complete loss. Mr. Robertson's loss is estimated at $500, without a cent's worth of insurance, and Mr. Tryon's loss is estimated at $500 also, but this is said to be fully covered by insurance.

The alarm sounded at 1:57 1-2 and a big crowd congregated before the arrival of the Bank street companies and the Montgomery Hose company, No. 2. There was quite a little talk about the slowness of the department by men in the vicinity of the fire. It is understood that the companies had to wait for the arrival of horses and therefore were a trifle slower than usual. Upon the arrival of the department, however, the men quickly got to work and prevented the fire from spreading to the blocks near by as the small wooden houses in the rear, which are very close.

A peculiar thing in connection with the fire is the fact that the very center of the hottest blaze there was a tank of gasoline, about 20 gallons in capacity, that was not injured by the flames, except for its outside covering of woodwork. After this had been burned away Chief Wade U. Webster carried the tank out of the building and the tank was some warm, but its contents were intact—a narrow escape from a bad explosion.

Question of Rebuilding. The fire brings up an interesting question: Can the structure be replaced again to favorably conform with its original? There are those who are of the opinion that it can be so replaced, while on the other hand others contend that it cannot be done. This is a question that has come up before, although in a different way. This particular building was located within the fire district and therefore, according to the regulations governing the construction of buildings, cannot be rebuilt, unless of fireproof material. The fact that the building was originally constructed before the specific ordinance became effective is the argument advanced by some that the building may be rebuilt to conform with its original. Permission has been refused in the event of an application for rebuilding should be made.

Firemen Delayed.

Members of the Montgomery Hose company, No. 2, do not like the way things have been breaking for them at the fire, through no fault of lack of men to respond or because they had to wait for the horses, as both were on hand early, but because the mechanism of the harnesses failed to work satisfactorily. This has been reported. It is understood, to the head of the department, but the difficulty has not been remedied and as a result the Monties have been getting in wrong with some of the citizens. When the Jackson street company did get away they were on the fire and rounded the corner of Jackson street into Union with such speed as to run afoul of a dog and ran over it with the wheels of the horse carriage. The feet of the horse came near finishing the animal, who rushed out barking at the apparatus as it rounded the corner with the gong sounding for a right of way. The dog was a bull named "Babe" and was owned by John McCruhan of 80 Union street.

OBITUARY.

Louis Potvin, aged about 50, died Thursday evening at St. Joseph's hospital, following an illness resulting from blood poisoning in the knee. He was a native of Canada, but had made his home in this city a number of years. He worked for the Willimantic Gas and Electric company for some time. There survive his wife, who was his second wife, a stepdaughter and a brother John of this city. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters living elsewhere.

WILLIMANTIC.

Mrs. Lucian M. Chaffee.

Mrs. Mary (Cargel) Chaffee, widow of Lucian M. Chaffee, died Tuesday night after ten days' illness at her home at Oxford, Mass. She was 95 years of age. Mrs. Chaffee was born in Oxford May 26, 1817. She was married to Lucian M. Chaffee May 3, 1841. He was a millwright by trade. They traveled from town to town for several years. Forty years ago they came to Oxford and settled on a farm in the east part of the town, where he died eighteen years ago. Since then she had lived with her sister, Miss Ceila L. Cargel. She had been very feeble the past three years. Ten days ago she was stricken. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Lydia B. Abbott, aged 84 years, and Miss Ceila L. Cargel, 79.

FUNERAL.

Charles H. Broadhurst. The funeral of Charles H. Broadhurst took place from the late home, 79 Spring street, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Townsend, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiated. The attendance at the service at the home was large, including many people from out of town and a delegation from the Knights Templar. After the services at the house, the body was taken to the station and placed aboard the 3:10 o'clock train for Putnam, where burial was in the family lot in the Grove street cemetery. There were a number of handsome floral tributes, including several elegant set pieces. These members of St. John's commandery, No. 11, K. T., were bearers: John G. Biff, D. B. Barrows, James Harrier, W. P. Allen, George Bisman and Edward Avery. Funeral Director H. N. Fenn was in charge of the arrangements.

Change of Offices.

Thursday afternoon the office fixtures of Merritt Welch and P. S. Hills, who have been occupying the office at 19 North street, were removed from that location to the office in the Jordan Hardware company's building formerly occupied by the Connecticut Electrical company. Next week the local office of the American Express company will be transferred from Main street to the North street office.

Painful Accident.

Contractor Joseph A. Martin met with an accident at about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. He was thrown out of his team and sustained a scalp wound. Mr. Martin was driving on lower Main street near the old office of the American Thread company and turned the corner onto the Union street hill rather sharply, so sharply as to collide with the stone post there and cause his buggy to overturn and throw him out upon the ground. Officer Elmer Weeks, who was driving in that vicinity, went to his assistance and helped him in his predicament. Mr. Martin was about as usual Thursday, but had a sore head and will have it for some time.

Personals.

James McGone is visiting friends in Eagleville for a short stay. Senator William L. Higgins of South Coventry was in Willimantic Thursday. George H. Backus, candidate for selectman on the democratic ticket, was in the city Thursday. Oliver F. Troop and George H. Howe of South Manchester were in the city on business Thursday. Charles S. Turner of Chaplin, who has been making a brief visit in Hartford, returned Thursday.

Corporation Counsel G. Wales McJannet acts as clerk of the superior court at Putnam Thursday.

George A. Hammond of Putnam was in town Thursday and attended the funeral of Charles H. Broadhurst. Samuel L. Burlingham, who is still at his summer home at Pleasant Beach, was in the city for a short stay Thursday.

Mayor Daniel P. Dunn and Police-man John J. Manley, with two of the latter's sons, Fred and Irving, went to Berlin Thursday, attending the fair. The plasterers who have been at work on the new federal building in this city finished their task Thursday noon and left in the afternoon for a similar job in New Jersey.

Martin Mullen, who for some time has been employed by the firm of Mullen & St. Onge, has resigned and will leave shortly for Baltimore, Md., to take up the study of dentistry. Fred Whitaker, a former Willimantic boy, now the republican candidate for sheriff of New Haven county, who has been the guest of friends in this city for a few days, returned to New Haven Thursday afternoon.

A low, rangy car having the appearance of a racing machine, manufactured by a firm in New Britain, attracted considerable attention in Main street Thursday noon. On either side of the hood was painted in gold letters "Direct Drive."

Leo McKenna, who has been clerk in the local freight office of the New Haven road, has resigned to take up the study of dentistry at a Baltimore (Md.) school of dentistry. Benjamin Murphy, who has been clerk for General Foreman P. J. Hurlhe, will succeed Mr. McKenna.

CONFEDERATE RECORDS.

Other Volumes Received at the State Library.

Volumes Nos. 2, 3 and 4 of the Confederate Records of the state of Georgia, compiled and published under the authority of the legislature by Prof. Allen D. Candler, LL.D., from 1861 to 1865 inclusive, have been received at the state library. The first volume included state papers of Gov. Joseph E. Brown relating to the public defence, the organization and equipment of troops, provisions for the families of soldiers. The second volume comprises the official correspondence of Gov. Joseph E. Brown for the four years, and the third volume treats largely of the Johnson reconstruction. Provisional Governor James Johnson, the journal of the convention of 1865, and Gov. Charles J. Jenkins. Volume No. 112 of reports of cases decided in the supreme court of Georgia at the March and October terms, 1909, has been put on file with reports in Volume No. 117 of cases decided in the court of appeals of the same state at the October term, 1909, and the March term, 1910, compiled by the same men. The preliminary report on the mineral resources of Georgia by S. W. McCaule, state geologist for 1910, is also at the library. It has twenty plates. Acts and Resolutions of the Fifth legislature assembly of Porto Rico in special session from August 30 to September 3, 1910, have been received.

Orchard of 2,000 Apple Trees.

Auto parties are finding a most attractive place to visit these autumn days at the great 200 acre apple orchard of the Colman estate at Seymour. There, way up on the granite hills overlooking the sound fifteen miles away, are 7,000 apple trees, 2,000 of which are now heading to the ground with rich, rosy apples.
